

You may have heard about the General Data Protection Regulation which came into effect on 25th May 2018. This is a regulation which provides new rights for EU citizens, to control identifying information about them, which is held by organisations.

Don't worry, we're not asking you to do anything, unless you no longer want to receive e-mails from us – but then there wouldn't be much point in being a member!

We are a non-profit-making operation endeavouring to give advice and information to members of the Association.

Your personal data, as held by APMJ, is retained in a private capacity.

The mailing list we use contains only:-

- a) Your name and address
- b) Your e-mail address
- c) Your telephone number(s)

APMJ is committed to ensuring the information you share with us is recorded accurately and retained securely. We do not share your information with third parties for any purpose whatsoever. We may need to disclose your information, if required to do so by law.
